Spanish Mortgage Refi Opportunity Exists An ongoing long-term opportunity exists for Spanish mortgage refis. Moreover, while the total amount of outstanding mortgage loans in Spain is not nearly as high as it is in the U.S., the Spanish mortgage refi market is much smaller and therefore tends to have much more liquidity. The total amount of outstanding mortgage loans in Spain is $7.3 trillion. Out of this, $0.3 trillion is refinancing and $6.9 trillion is new origination. Of the total amount of loans, the average loan size is $217,000. So while this is a low total amount compared to U.S. markets, the average loan size is much lower, which is part of the reason the Spanish refi market is so liquid. In Spain, the average new-home sales amount to $200,000 and the average property price 82157476af
